Pilot's Trial Opens In Moscow

Powers Confesses He Was U.S. Spy

MOSCOW (AP)—In a Soviet court today, Francis Gary Powers pictured himself as a $30,000-a-year spy for the United States—but one who knew little if anything about the equipment he was carrying. He said a superior officer had assured him it was "absolutely safe to fly over the Soviet Union."

With his grief-stricken wife and parents looking on, the U2 pilot stood in the prisoner's dock before the military section of the Soviet Supreme Court and pleaded guilty to espionage.

Television, motion picture and still cameras ground away as the defendant—first American ever to stand trial on capital charges in the Soviet Union—answered hour after hour of questions. The trial was in the Hall of Columns, site of the famous purge trials of the 1930s and the place where both Lenin and Stalin lay in state after death.

But much more than the young pilot—today was his 31st birthday—was on trial. The Soviet Union had made no secret of its hope to put United States policy and United States acts in the dock.

Under questioning by the Soviet prosecutor, following 117 days in Soviet captivity, Powers insisted again and again that he had no knowledge of the special photographic and recording apparatus aboard his jet. But he admitted he assumed the U2 was on a spy mission.

He said he was making $2,500 a month in his job under a secret contract.

He denied knowing what U. S. agency was in charge of the Lockheed U2 which penetrated 1,200 miles into the Soviet Union before it was downed.

"I think you did not doubt it was a spy flight," said prosecutor Roman A. Rudenko in the course of four hours of questioning at the trial's morning session.

"No, I don't think I doubted it," Powers responded.

The defendant wore a civilian suit and appeared well except for a red mark on his face.

His voice was firm but grew tired toward the end of the four-hour morning session.

Listening from a box in the rear of the courtroom were his wife and parents. A Russian nurse was with them as well as their own doctors from home. Powers, diagonally across the huge room and blinded by television lights, probably could not see them.

The family seldom took their eyes from the witness stand. Powers asserted he didn't know whether his flight was under military auspices. He said a colonel named Shelton was in charge of the outfit but that the rest of the group were civilians.

He testified Shelton had told him it was safe to fly over the Soviet Union—an apparent reference to the fact that similar planes had made flights over a period of about four years.

At the start of the trial a 4,000-word indictment drawn up by Soviet prosecutors, and previously made public, was read.

Asked then how he pleaded, Powers said:

"Yes, I plead guilty."

Wife, Parents Are Present

Powers' voice was high-pitched but calm, and he seemed in full control of himself.

The flier's wife, Barbara, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver W. Powers of Pound, Va., sat in a special box at the rear of the huge hall and heard him enter the plea which could—but probably won't—bring him a death sentence.

It was the first time any American had ever been tried on spy charges in a Soviet court, and the Soviet government announced it would also convict the whole

Council Studies Parking Ban on Seven Streets

Work Is Expected To Start Soon on City's Metered Lot

A program for limiting parking on seven Salem streets was recommended to City Council last night by the Traffic and Safety Committee headed by Councilman Ralph Zimmerman.

The streets proposed for parking restrictions are:

Superior Ave., on the west side from E. 8th to N. Lincoln Ave. Sharp Ave., both sides from State St. to Wilson St.

W. Pershing St., both sides from S. Ellsworth to S. Howard Ave. E. 6th St., both sides from Hawley Ave. to N. Union Ave., with the exception of Sunday when the churchgoers can park on the side opposite Salem High School.

Woodland Ave., west side from E. State St. to Maple St. Newgarden St., both sides from the railroad tracks to the city limits.

E. 3rd St., N. Ellsworth to N. Lincoln and from Vine Ave. to Brooklyn Ave.

Requests Ordinances

Councilman Zimmerman asked for ordinances in the near future to implement the parking program.

Councilman Donald Cannon of the 2nd Ward had to certify to Council last night that he was a resident of the Ward before he could participate in Council action.

The certification was requested by Council President Michael Schuller who said reports were circulating that Cannon was no longer living in the city. Cannon left Council chambers momentarily and returned with a written statement attesting that he resides at 539 W. School St. He said, however, that he had been staying in Lisbon for the last few days.

City Solicitor James D. Primm ruled that Cannon's stay in Lisbon was only a temporary absence and did not constitute his removal from Ward 2.

Mayor Dean Cranmer reported that he hopes the city's metered parking lot on E. Pershing St. will be under construction next month. He said the city began advertising for bids on the project Monday.

Sanitary Engineer Visits City

Don Day, district sanitary engineer from the Cuyahoga Falls office of the Ohio Department of Health, was in the city Tuesday, according to a report from City Sanitarian Angelo Vivino. Vivino said purpose of the engineer's visit was to inspect the refuse disposal of the city. He said Day was taken on an inspection tour of the city's abandoned dump, the Charles Eichler dump adjacent to the city's and the E and D Sanitary landfill.

Vivino said he expects a report from Day in the near future on the proper method of operating a landfill and on how to dispose of the abandoned open disposals. He said Day has already suggested that after the rat extermination projects are completed at the abandoned dumps, the trash be leveled and covered with two feet of dirt.

Also on the inspection tour was Harry Stockdale, Columbia County sanitarian.

Councilman Carl Abe said last

All West Branch To Vote on Petition

Mahoning County Board of Elections ruled today that the entire West Branch School District will be entitled to vote at the November election on Smith Township's petition to transfer certain areas to Mahoning Local School District.

The board came to a decision after conferring with Mahoning County Prosecutor Thomas A. Bell and Secretary of State Ted W. Brown.

The petition, which conflicts with a proposed school bond issue for the new West Branch School District, was signed by 366 residents of Smith Township.

Fabricating Co. To Close Plant

Action Is Climax To Labor Difficulties

The Salem Fabricating and Machine Co., a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Electric Furnace Co., is discontinuing almost all of the operations at the local plant, it was announced today.

A dissolution of the fabricating company is expected in the near future, it was said.

The firm employed 130 persons before contract negotiations failed after the work agreement with the CIO United Steelworkers union expired Nov. 14, 1959. Today the plant employs only eight workers.

Salem Fabricating officials announced that "most of the employees are being advised that there is no possibility in the foreseeable future that the company will have any work for them, and that their employment is being terminated, effective Aug. 16."

"A small number of employees are being notified that for the time being their names can be carried on an employment roster pending a determination by the company as to the number of employees it will require for the limited operations which will be continued."

"This is a decision which we have reached only with great reluctance and deep regret, and only after thorough study of our business problems, but the hard economic facts of business life leave us no alternative."

The Salem Fabricating and Machine Co.'s building, which covers 100,000 square feet of space, will be offered for sale, all or any part of it, a plant official said.

The Electric Furnace Co. itself employs between 150 to 175, including engineers, salesmen and clerical help. K. U. Wirtz is president.

Offers 33 Tons for Peaceful Purposes

U.S. Pushes Slashing Of Nuclear Materials

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States will push its latest proposal to slash stocks of nuclear weapons in world arsenals despite an initial Soviet rebuff.

This was the word from high American sources today as the 82-nation U.N. Disarmament Commission continued debate on how to get the deadlocked disarmament negotiations between the West and the Communists going again.

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge unveiled the U.S. proposals at the commission's opening session Tuesday. He said the United States was prepared to set aside 37,000 kilograms — 33 tons — of U-235 for peaceful purposes if the Soviet Union would do likewise.

This was the first time the United States had come up with a definite figure. Lodge said this amount could generate an explosive force 1,000 times greater than all the bombs dropped by all warring powers during World War II.

U. S. informants said Soviet agreement would result in a "Major reduction of all nuclear weapons stocks." The transfer would be contingent on U. S.-Soviet production on a total cutoff of all production of fissionable materials.

If the Soviet Union is not prepared to join in such a plan, Lodge went on, the United States is ready to join the Soviet Union in halting by successive steps production of fissionable materials for weapon use.

"We are prepared," he said, "to shut down, one by one, under international inspection, our major plants producing enriched uranium and plutonium, if the Soviet Union will shut down equivalent facilities. We are prepared to do this now—without delay."

Vasily V. Kuznetsov, the Soviet deputy foreign minister, said the U. S. plan was just a rehearsal of old proposals and not worthy of serious consideration. He repeated:

Levy Would Be One Half of One Per Cent

Duration of Tax Set at 15 Months Starting Oct. 1

A city income tax ordinance, proposing a tax collection of one half of one per cent on city incomes throughout a 15-month period commencing Oct. 1, was placed on its first reading Tuesday night by Salem City Council. The yield was estimated at $200,000 a year.

Five other measures necessary to the establishment and operation of the income tax program were given first readings, along with a resolution explaining the tax ordinance. The readings alone took almost two hours.

To Hold Special Meeting

Next Tuesday Council will conduct a special meeting to give the ordinance and the resolution their second and final readings as required by law.

The ordinance will place a tax equivalent of 50 cents on every $100 of income on all city earnings, with the exception of dividends, interest received, income from poor relief, Social Security, pensions, unemployment benefits, earnings received as a result of service in the armed forces, capital gains, and earnings of non-profit organizations.

The ordinance also excludes from taxation earnings of persons under 18 years of age.

J. Emerson Davis of Youngstown, tax consultant, told Council at last night's meeting that he expects the tax to yield almost $200,000 a year.

Differs In Four Respects

The proposed measure differs from the income tax ordinance given two readings late last year in these respects:

(1) Duration of the tax for 15 months (one year specified previously).

(2) Rate one half of one per cent (six tenths of one per cent before).

(3) Creation of a board of review (no provision made for such a board in last year's measure).

(4) Allocation of funds, 60 per cent to the general fund and 40 to capital improvements (almost entire yield of tax earmarked for specific improvements previously).

Had Drawn Criticism

Last year's proposed measure had drawn criticism because only a small amount of the tax income was to be placed in the general fund for operational expenses.

Capital improvements which will be made possible through enactment of the tax are: construction and maintenance of the city's streets and sidewalks, new equipment to complete the street lighting revampment program, traffic control and equipment for the safety and service departments.

The board of review, created by the new ordinance, will provide recourse for persons dissatisfied with the amount of their tax. Its authority will exceed that of the city auditor but will be beneath the Court of Common Pleas. The board will be composed of three members, one appointed by the mayor, one by the city treasurer and the third by the other two.

Other Measures Read

Also read were the following:

1. An ordinance authorizing the employment of a deputy auditor at a salary of not more than $5,000, a clerk at a salary of not more than $3,000, and other temporary help to be paid at the rate of $1.50 per hour with an annual expenditure of not more than $1,000.

2. An ordinance authorizing the city auditor to borrow up to $25,000 in the three-month period commencing Oct. 1 so that the tax may be installed and so that work can be started on both general fund projects and capital improvements.

3. An ordinance authorizing the advertising for bids on supplies and equipment necessary for operation of the tax department.

4. An ordinance authorizing the

Wage Bill Faces Senate Test

Kennedy Predicts Defeat for Change

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first major test on the minimum wage bill comes in the Senate today with Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), chief sponsor of the legislation, predicting a victory for his side.

The vote comes on an amendment by Sen. Spessard L. Holland (D-Fla.) to strike from the measure practically all of its provisions for extending wage-hour law coverage to five million more workers.

The Democratic presidential nominee told newsmen he believed the votes were available to defeat Holland's proposal. Republican sources confirmed this, although many GOP senators are expected to support the Florida senator.

The Kennedy bill would raise the $1 minimum wage to $1.25 in three steps and also bring under the law about five million additional workers.

The bulk of the new coverage would be in large-size retail and service establishments. These are fully exempt now. Most of the opposition to the bill is directed against the coverage provisions.

Holland would eliminate from the bill all coverage of retail stores, hotels, restaurants, laundries and other service establishments. He would leave in sections which would bring under the law 280,000 seamen, local transit employees, fish processing workers and telephone switchboard operators.

After the vote on the Holland proposal, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois planned to call up a substitute for the entire bill.

This would raise the minimum to $1.15 and include new coverage of about three million, he said. The Eisenhower administration has proposed these figures.

The Democrats said they were confident the Dirksen proposal could be defeated.

Road Firm Reports Theft of Dynamite

LISBON — Officials of the Miller Excavating Co. working on reconstruction of Rt. 7, north of Williamsport, reported this morning to the sheriff's office that someone stole between 20 and 30 pounds of dynamite in two-pound sticks and some dynamite caps during the past week, according to Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan.

They said they hadn't used any dynamite since last Wednesday and noticed the loss when they went to get several sticks this morning from a shack in a nearby strip mine where it was stored.

Deputies said a bar was used to break into the shed.

Lumumba Defies U.N. Command

Congo Is Placed Under Martial Law

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—In a new defiance of the U.N. command in the Congo, Premier Patrice Lumumba has proclaimed martial law for six months.

It was not clear what effect the volatile premier's latest maneuver would have. He proclaimed a state of emergency last week, and Tuesday armed Congolese troops and police searched living quarters of Belgians and U.N. personnel, arrested some Belgians and detained some U.N. personnel briefly.

However, U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld and the U.N. command showed no sign of bowing to Lumumba's demand that the U.N. forces be used to establish the government's authority over dissident Katanga province and other sections of the sprawling nation that show signs of wanting local autonomy.

Columbiana Council Okays Wage Boosts

COLUMBIANA — Village Council passed a pay raise ordinance last night that will grant two paid holidays in addition to a $25 a month raise for salaried employees and a 10-cent-an-hour increase for hourly paid village personnel. The three clerks will receive a five-cent-an-hour raise.

The increase will become effective Oct. 1, and will affect five department heads, two salaried personnel and approximately 19 hourly workers.

The last pay raise granted the workers was in February, 1959. The new ordinance is the first to provide paid holidays, which are Christmas and July 4.

Status of police patrolmen was revised to eliminate emphasis on seniority. Police now have four pay scales, first, second, third and fourth classes, and may be hired at the level of their ability.

Voting "yes" on the pay measure were the five Councilmen present, William Arn, John Robinson, Dale Klingensmith, Lee Harold and Harry Fullerton. Robert Farrell is on vacation. Mayor Erwood Calvin presided at the meeting.

When Will It Be 'Finished'?

It is ironic that the internal squabble on the Democratic team which Sen. Johnson and Sen. Kennedy hoped was blocked by their end run around the civil rights issue on the first day of the abbreviated congressional session has reared its head on another issue.

The Senate Finance Committee, ruled by Democrats, has taken a position diametrically opposed to the Democratic platform promises on medical aid to the aged. Because they are pledged to support the platform, Sen. Johnson and Sen. Kennedy have no choice but to accept the challenge and face up to a fight on the Senate floor.

BUT SEN. KENNEDY, in pledging to do battle, put his finger on the reason the contest exists. He said in a speech at Hyde Park, N. Y., that what Franklin D. Roosevelt started in the Social Security Act 25 years ago must be finished.

And the question that scares many a citizen half out of his wits is: When will it be finished?

The question is not one of the merits of social security, which by this time is reasonably well accepted as a tool of the nation's economic life. The question is rather one of approach and degree.

Is social security going to be a base to be a base to guarantee all citizens a minimum amount of security in retirement, upon which they can build further if they so desire? Or is it going to be extended and extended and extended until it attempts to give everybody over 65 a life so luxurious that everyone will be anxious to grow old so he can enjoy a better standard of living off the government than he ever enjoyed by his own efforts?

Preposterous as that sounds, it sometimes seems to be dangerously close to what the welfare staters have in mind.

In addition, many of the nation's younger citizens have qualms about the deductions needed to pay for the extended programs. They are the ones who are necessarily — and rightfully — more concerned with providing for their own young families now than with providing for their own old age in the distant future.

THE REASON so many citizens are reluctant to endorse efforts to introduce new social security programs is not because they fail to recognize an element of need, but because they fear where the programs will wind up before the political spenders decide they are "finished."

The Senate Finance Committee and millions of voters agree that some program to aid aged persons hard hit by medical bills is in order.

But they are not convinced that the best solution is a compulsory, all-inclusive social security program that will be primarily a brand new track on which the spenders of other people's money can set off with destination unknown.

World's Newest Profession

Whatever chance the Belgian Congo has of using its freedom for something better than a civil war that might never end rests in the ability of Dag Hammarskjöld and Ralph Bunche to settle the political differences that have flared into violence the last six weeks.

The secretary-general of the United Nations and his chief trouble-shooter are the foremost practitioners of the world's newest profession—international negotiator.

There have been statesmen, diplomats and militarists. There have been special envoys, confidential agents and heads of secret missions.

There have been experts in stirring up sedition, treason, revolution, bloodshed, stratagems, plots, intrigues and turmoil.

But never before have there been men who have risen deliberately above nationalism to act as international negotiators between divergent elements itching to fight it out.

Their only counterparts are the few men to be found in civilized countries who find personal satisfaction in showing where areas of agreement existed, for the benefit of those trapped in areas of disagreement.

In the United States, for example, violence and suffering have been averted by skilled negotiators with the patience to stand between spokesmen for labor and management.

No one knows what the Hammarskjöld-Bunche formula is. No one knows the exact nature of the team play by which they are trying to save the Congolese from the tragedy of violence and by which they calmed violence in Israel.

Less is known about them than is known about the merest crooner or the roukiest ballplayer. They wear no uniforms. Even their titles are vague. But it cannot be doubted that they are pioneering in an unexplored area of human relations—the settlement by logic and good will of international disputes that in the past were signs for prolonged blood-lettings.

Powers Trial an Anti-Climax

As the trial of Francis Gary Powers gets under way in Moscow, Americans owe it to him, his wife, his mother and father, who have gone to Moscow in the hope of seeing him, and to themselves to understand what is going to happen.

The Russians hold not only the high cards but the deck. Their indictment shows they know everything there is to know about Powers, his airplane and what he was doing. They have obtained from the young pilot, himself, all the details needed to back up their case against him as an alleged spy who violated their borders.

They have promised a full confession, and there is no reason to doubt their promise. They have held Powers since the beginning of May, much longer than the time needed to brainwash him. Their mastery of this technique, which one of their great scientists developed with his historic experiments on setting up conditioned reflexes in dogs, is complete.

They have proved it many times, beginning in the great purge trials of the '30s when high Russian officials babbed a confession that suited the needs of the prosecution. They proved it in 1951 in the trial of William Oatis, U.S. newspaperman accused of activities hostile to Czechoslovakia. Oatis said what his captors wanted him to say. Hundreds of U.S. prisoners of the Red Chinese in the Korean War became parrots under the "tutelage" of instructors schooled in the Pavlov methods of proving that people can be "trained" as handily as dogs if their masters know how to teach them.

The powers trial will be a propaganda show, and there is nothing the United States can do to make it anything else. This has been the jolting tragedy of the U2 incident. Never before have Americans realized more painfully what it feels like to be unable to break out of a corner in which they have been penned by circumstances they couldn't control.

Hence the wild, foolish and irresponsible things that have been said about the U2 incident. They shouldn't be duplicated when the Powers trial begins on Aug. 15. The Russians are about to put on one of their characteristic mockeries. Americans should show their contempt by their silence.

They cannot save Francis Powers from the fate that already has been decreed for him by his Russian captors. But they can save their dignity, which they almost kicked away last May with a spatter of foolish comment.

The Chest Goal

From agency budget requests which totaled $77,670, Salem Community Chest leaders have trimmed out $13,950 to arrive at a $63,720 goal for the October fund drive.

Two "red feather" agencies were given cuts, four others continued at amounts corresponding to last year and six others were voted small increases.

It was no easy job for the civic leaders to set the budget. The needs of each group had to be scrutinized carefully, yet with full realization that without financial support from the Chest many of the organizations would fail.

Fortunately, most Salem citizens are aware of the Chest Association's vital role in community affairs. That is why the 1959 campaign went over the top and is likely to succeed again this year.

Once Over

Khrushchev says he would like to head the Soviet delegation to the U.N. September session. Nikita, who busted up the Paris Summit meeting and said he was through with the United States, would visit us again on his own invitation and provide a summit on the edge of the East River, delivering his threats and insults on the front doorsteps.

His card now reads "Abuse manufactured and delivered anywhere." You can't beat Nikita for iron gall, versatility, and strange ideas of showmanship.

It could be too great a strain to expect American people to behold calmly the top defamer of Uncle Sam parading daily to the U.N. skyscraper all charged up with fresh insults and nose-thumbings. It's like asking the spider to play a return visit to Little Miss Muffet and for grandma to welcome an encore by the wolf. Suggested to welcome: 1.—Nikita takes off for the United States despite exhortations of the American way, the United States President and American policies.

2.—Uncle Sam gasps, "Am I dreaming or will the incredible never cease?" The U.N. summons engineers to strengthen its skyscraper against unexpected stresses.

3.—American public reflects greatest indignation since Concord Bridge, cries, "Oh no!" and displays banner, "Hospitality yes; goofiness, no."

4.—Khrushchev lands. Statue of George Washington throws off sparks. Paul Revere's horse reported seen with saddle on backwards and Paul trying to get his head in stirrup. Confusion is general.

5.—New cocktail introduced at the U.N.: One sip and you not only see double but hear double. Delegates demand new cooling system for earphones.

6.—Castro says he will bombard the U.S. if it doesn't grant Nikita three-hour TV shows.

7.—Trujillo, sore because he finds himself eclipsed by Nikita, quits the U.N. and goes to Coney Island where dizziness is more fun and can be had with peanuts and hot-dogs.

8.—Khrushchev enters the U.N. chamber disguised as Mary's Little Lamb, but denies it is a disguise. Hammarskjöld is asked to form the U.N. police force to protect the Free World from the U.N. Washington announces, "He still won't see Disneyland."

Cuban "Follow-The-Leader"

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Victor Riesel

A few hours after I left the sleek Trans World Airlines jet liner at Orly Field, I was in the high-ceilinged, marble-floored, guarded apartment of Monsieur S. on the Blvd. St. Germain des Pres. Meticulous coded files on the Soviet's KGB — Committee for State Security — were there.

Those dossiers had what I sought—the details of the espionage, sabotage and terror apparatus of the KGB, the agency which has indicted U2 pilot Francis Powers in Moscow. Not far from here Chairman Khrushchev quivered at the nostrils in mid-May over our lone spy. But all the time he was receiving reports from a huge KGB espionage center. It is in Saint Antonius Hospital in the Soviet Berlin-Karlshorst restricted area.

Officially it is known as the KGB Residencia. It is second only to the supreme spy center in Moscow. It dwarfs the combined espionage manpower of the entire West.

In the Karlshorst restricted area, the KGB has some 600 buildings and separate offices suites. These are manned by 900 permanent specialists in everything from forging of U.S. documents to contact with the underworld of Europe for terror assignments.

THIS ESPIONAGE general staff also "has an organization of several thousands, including field workers, agents, informers, couriers and other liaison personnel."

In Germany alone, the KGB has life and death authority over 16,000 agents. Add to this tens of thousands more in England, France, Italy and the United States.

Across the world Western intelligence efforts put the total at more than 250,000. It is this Karlshorst KGB headquarters which is the usual jumping off point for agents penetrating the West.

These are the operators who will be responsible for the wave of sabotage, the street demonstrations and the efforts to provoke picket line violence in the United States.

Compare this with the simple "overflight" spying of Francis Powers who wouldn't have put the flame to a Russian candle if it meant harming anyone.

Look, as I did, at the makeup of the KGB's sabotage-espionage unit at Karlshorst called "The Dept. of Illegal Activity."

Operating out of the Residencia, it "exercises functions which include support to front and other underground organizations in the West and the training of these organizations for the execution of terror and sabotage action."

There is in this spy warren—which is so complex you need an electronic computer to control it—a Dept. of Foreign Countries. Its operatives refer to it as the "Reronnaissance Dept."

Officially it has as its "function the spying in military and political fields and subverting anti-Soviet political organizations, parties and groups."

This is part of the effort to "infiltrate all fields of life in the capitalist world."

There is a Dept. "SK." It is charged with "the surveillance and control of Soviet diplomatic and trade representations and the control of Soviet citizens" abroad.

Names Combine for Confusion

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Picking your way through the maze of corporate names that sound alike can sometimes trip you if you're an expert and throw you if you're a novice.

As the number of companies in the United States grows each year, the sound-alikes multiply. And the postwar trend to diversification of products is the opposite of helpful.

Most persons have to stop and think to tie the right end product to the various glass companies with the proper nouns, Libbey, Illinois, Owens, Corning, Ford, in different combinations.

Even knowledgeable stock traders might stumble over the Ohio Oil Co. and Standard Oil Co. (Ohio). And many gasoline buyers get mixed up between all the other Standard Oils—Jersey, California, Indiana, Louisiana, Kentucky, Texas. Some Standards of old have telescoped their names. Example: Socony Mobil—the Socony was once Standard Oil Co. of New York.

The various Colas can trip the unwary—Coca, Pepsi and Royal Crown. How about U.S. Gypsum and National Gypsum, American Can and Continental Can, General Foods and General Mills? Some persons confuse B. F. Goodrich and Goodyear, especially as both rubber companies are in Akron, Ohio.

But it's another Ohio City, Toledo, where confusion could really reign in the post office and the telephone office, for three top glass companies are there. Among them, in varying combinations, they sport all five of those names—Corning, Ford, Illinois, Libbey, and Owens—with all three sharing Owens.

Each makes glass, but also separate and noncompeting end products. Out-of-towners can get pretty mixed up between Owens-Illinois, Libbey-Owens-Ford, and Owens Corning.

The Owens shared by all three comes from Michael J. Owens, who worked for Edward Drummond Libbey, and devised the first automatic glass bottle making machine. The bottle company became Owens-Illinois in 1929. It still makes glass containers, but also packages of plastic and paper, and glassware for industrial, electronic and scientific use.

The two men also formed the Libbey-Owens Flat Glass Co. which in 1930 merged with another firm to become Libbey-Owens-Ford. It makes flat glass for buildings, autos, and so on.

Owens-Illinois and Corning Glass Works of New York form the Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp. in 1938 to produce glass fibers and the many products from it.

There are any number of companies with Ford, Owens, Illinois or Libbey as first names, but having no connection with the glass companies.

And way out, if you're really confused, is Libby, McNeill & Libby, known for its canned and frozen foods.

Atrocities Condoned

By DAVID LAWRENCE

U.N. Ignores, U.S. Pays Congo

An amazing item came over the news ticker on Monday of this week. It read in part as follows: "The State Department asked Congress today for an extra 100 million dollars in foreign aid funds to help the violence — brutal attacks on white residents, with wholesale beatings of the men, mistreatment of the children and rape of the women, including at least two American missionaries."

Not many days ago the Congo government which is to be given American taxpayers' money committed one of the worst atrocities in human history — brutal attacks on white residents, with wholesale beatings of the men, mistreatment of the children and rape of the women, including at least two American missionaries.

Yet the Prime Minister of the Congo government has called it all a "lie," and not a word of regret or apology has come from the very government whose troops were guilty of the atrocities — and whose same troops now would be supported with money furnished by the taxpayers of America.

The United States ambassador in Leopoldville reported the facts at the time and a commission of inquiry created on July 16 by the Belgian government has just issued a preliminary report that documents case after case.

The commission is composed entirely of high judges of Belgian courts and is not under control of the government.

ITS REPORT deals only with cases "among those which the commission can retain as established and proved as of now," but presents what it calls "often painful details" of the rapings of well over one hundred women, including a number of nuns, most of whom were savagely assaulted not once but over and over again.

The commission points out that the press has reported that 291 Belgian women have testified to such treatment.

No word of public condemnation, however, has come from the Department of State addressed to the Congo government itself or to the press, expressing American disapproval of what has happened.

Not so many months ago the same Department of State, however, was quick to interfere in the internal affairs of the government of the Union of South Africa by issuing a statement condemning unnumbered police because they fired at a mob of several thousands that threatened them.

Surely this is a precedent for public expression now about the horrors in the Congo, though there are plenty of precedents in international law, anyway, which say a government may at any time express opinions and take action when the lives and property of its citizens have been impaired.

The United Nations itself is subject to severe criticism for having failed to recognize the right of the Belgian troops to remain in the Congo to protect the lives and property of Belgian subjects and to secure redress for grievances suffered by them.

Since the United Nations has taken over instead, then it is the duty of that organization, morally at least, to obtain redress. Yet, so far as anyone knows, the U.N. secretary general has done nothing to require the Congo government to administer punishment to those troops guilty of rape.

So far as the U.N. is concerned, the atrocities have been ignored—as if they had not occurred.

IT MAY BE wondered what possible good can be served by giving money to an irresponsible government which has not yet shown its capacity to honor its obligations to all foreign residents.

The State Department insists that the extra 100 million is needed "to restore some of the fundamental conditions that will permit a more normal life to be resumed."

But how can a capacity to govern be suddenly acquired by a people hardly emerged from savagery? How can there be any respect for the lives and property of foreigners in the future if the United States now overlooks the misdeeds of the Congo government and turns around and gives it money?

But American taxpayers who are expected to foot the bill can still have recourse to their own Congress and insist that not a penny be appropriated to the new Congo government until satisfactory action has been taken not only to punish the wrongdoers but to safeguard foreigners against similar attacks in the future.

THE ARGUMENT will be made that, if the United States doesn't help with money now, the Soviet Union will.

The truth is that the Communists have their agents in the Congo already and have played no small part in egging on the terrorists so as to create more and more complex problems for the countries of the West.

Unless the Congo government is willing to exterminate the Communist intrigue and stop trying to blackmail the West by attempting to play off Moscow against Washington, there is little justification for pouring American taxpayers' money down the drain in the Congo.

Certainly the "civil rights" of the white women in the Congo would seem to be as important as any other "civil rights" which motivate so many political demonstrations nowadays in this country.

Vacation Capsules

By TRUMAN TWILL

Thanks to the spaceman program, which trains candidates for space travel by putting them through their experiences under laboratory conditions, anyone now can "enjoy" a vacation without leaving home.

Just build your own vacation "capsule" in the back yard. Climb into it, stay a fortnight under simulated conditions and go back to work as bushed as if you had been through the real thing.

The difference will be that you will be saving the cost of a real vacation. No matter how fancy the do-it-yourself capsule might turn out to be, it wouldn't cost as much as the real thing.

If this idea catches on, companies will rent out vacation capsules to suit a client's needs — a seaside capsule one year, a fishing camp capsule, a touring capsule, a mountain lodge capsule and so on.

There may be a demand for two weeks in a being-shot-to-the-moon capsule, to meet the requirements of vacationers always looking for something different.

Some years ago, a few close friends and I spent a fortnight at the seaside. It was a memorable experience.

For 24 hours a day there was the heavy swoosh of the waves banging up on the beach, then the tschchp as the water ran back—a simple sound effect.

For 24 hours a day there was the special kind of saltwater-sticky humidity that goes with the seashore. It reached a climax when a hurricane roared up the coast and blew down everything it could n't blow away. That could be simulated nearly inside a seaside capsule with fans and sprays.

More distinctly than any other seaside detail I remember the insects, which were of various kinds. But all of them crawled, tickled and bit. Most of them left welts.

This is another detail that would be no trouble in a seaside capsule. Just keep letting in insects from the outside as the victim killed off the marauders.

Another memorable detail was the odor of theoretically edible marine life being cooked to death in deep fat. It is the same smell encountered in front of cheap hash houses that vent their effluvia into the streets — a smell like rubber being roasted over a slow fire.

In a seaside capsule, there also would be the sound effect of loud radios and phonographs, also seafulls and the shrill shrieks of young females being slapped by the waves and members of the opposite sex.

In a fishing camp capsule, one of the prominent features would be live bait. Another would be chronic indigestion — the kind that makes you think of a sink with a clogged trap.

The touring capsule would feature car sickness, wraparound underwear, bus fumes, trying to pick out route markers at 70 miles an hour, nervous exhaustion, anxiety patterns and the odor of decaying bananas.

A mountain lodge capsule, on the other hand, would feature the aromatic fragrance of pine needles, primitive plumbing, the sighing of the wind in tall trees and the unbearable loneliness of an existence in which there would be nothing to look forward to but going up one side and down the other.

Each vacation experience could be simulated inside a capsule no larger than a mobile house. The vacationer would disappear inside for a fortnight and when he came out his skin would be burned, his hair would be unruly, his patience would be exhausted, his mind would be broadened by the realization that life is not a bowl of cherries.

Even so, he would not have suffered as much as he would suffer under the circumstances that would prevail if he had gone on a real vacation, instead of settling for a simulated experience. In the event to send home the body; it would be on the premises.

foreign policy of the United States.

Powers appeared to be in good health and showed no signs of nervousness. He wore a single-breasted navy blue suit and a dark red necktie. His hair was crewcut and he carried into the prisoner's box a light blue cardboard folder which apparently contained material for his defense. There was a red mark on his left jaw just under the ear, possibly the after-effect of an injury sustained when he parachuted May 1 from his high-flying jet 1,200 miles inside Soviet territory.

At the outset of the hearing before three military judges Powers answered routine, factual questions about his birthplace and birth date—he is 31 today—his family background and his education.

Then came the reading of the long indictment and then, with surprising rapidity, the plea. "Have you heard and understood the charges against you?" asked the presiding judge, Lt. Gen. Viktor V. Borisoglebsky.

"Yes," Powers replied after rising in the prisoner's box. "Do you acknowledge that you are guilty?" the judge continued from his high-backed chair beneath the hammer and sickle emblem of the Soviet Union.

"Yes, I plead guilty."

"Be seated," said the judge. There was a stir throughout the audience and the judge declared a recess for 20 minutes.

The plea of guilty came as no surprise, for the indictment previously published — said Powers had pleaded guilty to flying over Soviet territory, turning on and off special equipment aboard his plane, and believed this "was done with the aim of collecting intelligence information about the Soviet Union."

Powers' appearance in court was his family's first sight of him since before his ill-fated flight. They arrived in Moscow last weekend but the Soviets refused to permit them to see him. Repeated requests from the U.S. Embassy to interview the flier also were refused.

Powers' eyes raked the audience of 1,500 as he entered the courtroom, apparently seeking his family. But he clearly did not find them, for at no time did he look at their box under the rear balcony.

The Kremlin launched the trial in a blazing spotlight of publicity, focusing new attention on the ill-fated reconnaissance flight over Soviet territory which Premier Nikita Khrushchev gave as his reason for breaking up the May summit conference in Paris.

As the state's chief accuser, the Soviet government named Roman Andreyevich Rudenko, 53, the general public prosecutor who was the chief Soviet prosecutor at the Nuernberg war crimes trials.

Powers is being defended by a mild-mannered public defender, Mikhail Ilich Griniov, a defense attorney at Nuernberg. Three attorneys sent by the Virginia Bar Assn. were admitted to the Soviet Union with the Powers family but were not permitted to take part in the trial.

Food Is Distributed
To 124 County Families
LISBON — One hundred twenty-four families received surplus food at the Columbiana County warehouse in Columbiana Tuesday, Robert Bycroft, county welfare director and head of the surplus food program, reported.

The number getting food constituted the largest percentage of those certified in almost a year, Bycroft said. One hundred sixty-eight families were certified.

Applicants during the past year averaged approximately 50 percent of those certified, Bycroft said.

Two Men Held In Robbery At Minerva
Two men are being held in Carroll County jail at Carrollton this morning pending charges of unarmed robbery in connection with an assault on a 27-year-old Minerva man early Tuesday in Minerva.

One of the alleged assailants, Garland B. Seabolt, 27, of Kanawha County, W. Va., was captured shortly after 9 p.m. Tuesday in the vicinity of the New York Central Railroad Station in Minerva. He had been sighted there earlier and, after a search of the area by state highway patrolmen, Minerva police, Columbiana County and Carroll County sheriff's deputies, was apprehended without resistance.

His suspected accomplice in the robbery of Willis Gordon, 27, of Malvern, Wallace L. Daniels, 25, of Minerva, was captured at 1:15 a.m. Tuesday at the scene of the incident by night policemen Kenneth Thompson of Minerva.

The two reportedly lured Gordon into a downtown parking lot, beat him and robbed him of $354 in checks and $60 in cash. Gordon was taken to Alliance City Hospital after the assault where he is confined with a broken nose and a badly beaten face.

It was first surmised that Daniels too had been the victim of robbers. He claimed at the time of the robbery that he also was beaten and that almost $100 was taken from his person. However, police became suspicious after medical examination showed Daniels had apparently not been in an altercation. Under questioning, Daniels confessed to participating in the robbery.

Two juvenile girls, who allegedly accompanied the pair of suspects, were released.

Foreign Ministers View Venezuelan, Dominican Dispute

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) — Venezuela prepared today to ask Western Hemisphere foreign ministers for a history-making quarantine of the Dominican Republic.

The Dominican promised a counterblast of their own at the foreign ministers' conference of American States, which opened Tuesday night.

A sharp split seemed to be developing among the foreign ministers on what to do about the Venezuelan-Dominican dispute, in which Venezuela has charged the regime of Dominican dictator Rafael Trujillo with masterminding an assassination attempt on Venezuelan President Romulo Betancourt.

Diplomatic informants said Venezuela had ready a draft resolution asking the invoking of all sanctions in the 1947 Rio Treaty short of armed intervention. The treaty says the ministers, by a two-thirds vote, can suspend diplomatic relations and impose communications bans, but this has never happened.

Dominican Foreign Minister Porfirio Herrera denied the Venezuelan charges and said in a news conference he had some surprise testimony and proof of his own to submit.

chaotic country. He demanded the immediate withdrawal from the Congo of the Swedish contingent of the U.N. force whose loyalty to Hammarskjöld's orders is unquestioned.

Hammarskjöld, who fled back to New York Tuesday night to ask the Security Council how the U.N. Congo command should meet Lumumba's growing hostility, refused to comment on the martial law declaration. The council is expected to meet Thursday on the Congo situation.

Hammarskjöld was handed a communication from Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily Kuznetsov voicing disagreement with the secretary-general's interpretation of U.N. neutrality toward the dispute between Lumumba and Katanga Premier Moise Tshombe. The Soviets have made plain they think the U.N. force should carry out Lumumba's wishes and subdue the rebellious provincial government.

The Belgian radio reported that a 20-mile-long column of native men, women and children, was fleeing from Luluabourg, capital of Kasai province, where the rival Lulua and Baluba tribes are locked in bloody warfare. The broadcast said a special investigating committee of the central Congo government had reported that arrival of U.N. troops in the province had failed to end the tribal blood bath.

the Soviet Supreme Court. Three judges and no jury. The trial is expected to run about three days, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. (Moscow time) daily.

THE DEFENDANT — Francis Gary Powers, 31 today, of Pound, Va. Civilian pilot for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Bailed out of his high-altitude U2 observation jet plane over Sverdlovsk, some 1,200 miles inside the Soviet Union on May 1. Captured and held incommunicado since.

FAMILY — Barbara Powers, 24, of Milledgeville, Ga., his wife. Oliver W. Powers, 55, shoemaker of Norton, Va., his father. Ida Powers, 54, of Norton, his mother. All are attending the trial as spectators with Soviet permission. Powers' sister, Jessica Hileman of Washington, D.C., left New York Tuesday night for Moscow to attend the trial.

DEFENSE ATTORNEY — Mikhail Ilich Griniov, prominent Moscow lawyer, appointed by the Kremlin. Presiding officer of the Juridical Council, Soviet equivalent of a legal aid society. One of the Soviet prosecutors at the Nuernberg trials of Nazi leaders after World War II.

CHIEF PROSECUTOR — Roman A. Rudenko, also a Soviet prosecutor at the Nuernberg war crimes trials.

THE CHARGE — Espionage, under the Soviet law on "criminal responsibility for crimes against the state." Details are spelled out in a 4,000-word indictment, in which the Kremlin says Powers pleaded guilty to the "substance" of the charge.

THE PENALTY — From 7 years in prison to death by firing squad. Theoretically, leniency could result in expulsion from the Soviet Union.

The Doctor Says

By HAROLD THOMAS HYMAN, M.D.

Flies, Lice, Mice Influence History

Maybe you have not realized it but your home is a sort of battleground of disease. In it, you and your family carry on a fight against infections carried by insects and animal pests.

Dr. H. T. Hyman

by ticks that ride in on dogs or cats.

A disease, recently described in Kew Gardens, Li., and now called rickettsialpox, travels by way of a mouse-lice.

A serious epidemic of a variety of sleeping sickness (encephalitis), that attacked residents of New Jersey a few months ago, was air-lifted by mosquitoes.

WHILE YOU FIGHT your battles in your limited sector, major forces, such as the World Health Organization (WHO), an arm of United Nations, operate in every corner of the earth for the protection of human health and welfare.

Despite its staff of internationally famed specialists in the field of medicine, sanitation and public health, WHO has just suffered a series of humiliating defeats in its efforts to rid the world of certain widespread infectious diseases.

The victors in this seemingly unequal conflict were flies, lice and mosquitoes.

Here's how the battle was lost, at least for the time being. Since 1954, field workers of WHO have been fighting disease-carrying body lice at Queenstown, Union of South Africa, and in neighboring Bantu locations in Cape Province.

Their weapon was 5 per cent powder of DDT. Attacks on the population of enemy lice were conducted regularly at six-week intervals.

THE DEATH RATE among the contemptible foe was near to 100 per cent at the beginning of the campaign. Now it's less than one in five as a result of the development by lice "scientists" of a defense against DDT. A similar degree of immunity to DDT has been observed in flies.

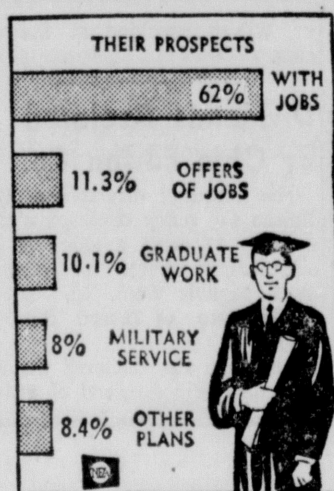

Now, at first glance, you may think the setback of WHO teams of little importance to you and your household. Let me explain now each of us is concerned in this world war against lice and flies and their allies who include fleas, mites, mosquitoes and ticks.

As any veteran of any of our recent wars can testify, lice and fleas use rats and mice for transportation as we use motorized vehicles.

AND, AS THEY can further testify, more time and energy are spent by the man in the field fighting these enemies than is spent in combat with the declared foe.

Indeed, Prof. Hans Zinsser (with whom I once studied at Columbia University) wrote a fascinating book, entitled, "Rats, Lice and History," in which he suggested that many of history's decisive battles were won or lost, not by the military, but by epidemic disease that devastated the losing army more than it did the conquerors.

In each instance cited by the by insects many of which traveled to battle by way of rats and mice.

NOW I DON'T mean to say that your home is less important than trenches, dug-in warfare, or Bantu huts in Cape Province. But I don't think it would be advisable to postpone your private war on disease-carriers until WHO teams get around to your neighborhood.

If you want to protect yourself and your loved ones, maybe you'd better arm yourself with rat-killers, mouse bait and insecticides and rout your enemies before they go over to the attack.

Marinara Sauce Is Flavored

"What is Marinara Sauce?" a curious cook queries. "I've seen it called for in recipes but how to make it seems to be a big dark secret."

No wonder the question is asked! A search of comprehensive American cook books yields no answers. But our collection of about a dozen Italian cook books (written in English) makes clear the sauce's pedigree.

Birthplace: Italy.

Name: Marinara means mariner and alla marinara is "in the manner of sailors or fisherfolk." Did some of Italy's coastal cooks first popularize it?

Ancestry: It's a member of the tomato family that plays such a large part in Italian cooking.

Character: Besides fresh or canned tomatoes the sauce's basic ingredients are olive oil and seasonings — salt, pepper, garlic, parsley, basil or oregano or both.

Personality: Fresh and light, but changeable; might even be called fickle because it switches partners. Sometimes it is married to spaghetti and then it may have the addition of anchovies or shrimp. Should it accompany fish, lemon peel and capers are often added. When it is served with rice an Italian-American cook may add olives.

No matter what its background, Marinara Sauce is delightfully simple, yet full of flavor. Nowadays it may be had canned, or you can concoct it from the following rule.

Marinara Sauce

Ingredients: 2 tablespoons olive oil, 1 large clove garlic (peeled and minced), 2 tablespoons minced parsley, 1 can (1 pound) of about 3 ounces Italian-type peeled tomatoes, ¾ to 1 teaspoon salt, pepper, ½ teaspoon sugar, ¼ to ½ teaspoon crumbled oregano.

Method: Heat olive oil in a heavy medium-sized saucepan; add garlic and parsley; cook gently several minutes, stirring a few times, until garlic is golden.

Add tomatoes, ¾ teaspoon salt, pepper to taste and sugar.

Simmer, uncovered and stirring occasionally, until medium-thick—about 30 minutes; 5 minutes before ready add oregano; if needed add remaining ¼ teaspoon salt.

Fish en Papillote

Ingredients: 4 small fish (¾ pound each), 1 can (3 ounces) mushroom crowns, 4 scallions (sliced in 1-inch lengths with green tops), 1 small tomato (cut into 4 wedges), salt, pepper, 4 tablespoons butter.

Method: Have fish split and cleaned but not boned; have heads and tails left on; wash and dry.

Put each fish on one side of a buttered heart-shaped piece of parchment paper large enough to accommodate the fish. Place in and at sides of fish the mushrooms, scallions and tomato wedges.

Sprinkle insides of fish and vegetables with salt and pepper. Dot vegetables and top of fish with butter. Fold other half of parchment over fish; beginning at top of heart, seal open cut edges with short overlapping double folds and twist point.

Place fish packages on baking sheet in hot (425 degrees) oven 25 minutes — parchment should be puffed up and browned.

With scissors cut two slits in a cross shape in top of packages; serve in parchment; eaters open package by folding back cut corners. Makes 4 servings.

Asparagus Frittata

Ingredients: 4 eggs, ½ teaspoon salt, white pepper, 2 tablespoons butter, ¾ pound asparagus (cut in short lengths and cooked), 4 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese.

Method: Beat eggs with salt and pepper to taste just until yolks and whites are blended.

Melt butter in a large skillet (9 or 10 inches) until it hisses, add eggs, cook omelet-style.

When about half-cooked, arrange asparagus over the top and sprinkle with cheese; cover and cook over low heat until eggs are firm.

With a wide spatula, fold one half of omelet over the other. Cut in half; with wide spatula lift to plates. Makes 2 servings.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Our 13-year-old daughter Marcia is an attractive, wholesome girl with a winning personality. But I wonder if she is developing normally.

Marcia was invited to a boy-girl party and refused without even discussing it with us. When I asked her why she didn't care to go she said, "Boys are creeps. They don't like to dance and they're too dumb to talk."

It doesn't seem right that a young girl should not be interested in boys. She'll never learn to be at ease with the opposite sex if she continues to have this indifferent attitude.

What shall I do with her? — V.S.A.

Dear V.S.A.: Don't be so eager to push the little bird out of the nest. She'll fly when her wings are ready.

It's downright refreshing to hear about a 13-year-old girl who isn't already rehearsing to be a man-trap.

If Marcia wants to work on Girl Scout badges for another year or two, take it from me, Mother, there's nothing to become alarmed about. This is much better than the accelerated dating program which overzealous mothers are encouraging today.

Tickled Pink

Dear Ann: The man I'm going with couldn't be nicer. We are both in our late 30s and we know what life is all about.

When I tell you the problem you'll probably think I'm a brainless juvenile but, honestly, I do need help. His mustache tickles me when we kiss. Nothing spoils a romantic mood like laughter and this is getting to be a problem.

I like the looks of his mustache and would miss it if he shaved it off. What I need from you is a mature rationalization, something to think about so I won't laugh. Please help me. I'd be very grateful. — NO LAUGHING MATTER.

Dear No Laughing: The thought to hold uppermost in your mind is this: He's a gem of a guy — and you should be tickled to death.

Those Heels Again

Dear Ann: Your answer to the woman who cried because her guests' high-heeled shoes left pockmarks in her vinyl vestibule missed the point completely.

Ket's put the blame where it belongs. It's not the lack of durability of the floor covering, it's the metal lifts on those ridiculous heels. They REALLY dig in.

If enough women screamed in unison to the shoe clerks the word would get back to the manufacturers promptly and they would discontinue metal lifts.

Damage to floors and rugs is only part of the story. Thousands of women snag or tear holes in their nylons when they cross their legs. And for some mysterious reason, the heels on the ladies' shoes are precisely the right size to get stuck in perforated rubber mats and steel sidewalk grates.

I'm in the shoe business and know there are other materials that could be used. If women refuse to buy shoes with metal lifts, they'll get something else. — G.M.T.

Dear Ann: In regard to the gals whose stiletto heels ruin the rugs and floors, I invite them over to play croquet. It's a wonderful way to aerate the lawn. — UNIDENTIFIED STAFFER.

Confidentially

TO DUBIOUS: Beware of people who are constantly telling you how honest they are. Your friend sounds like the type who would never tell a fib if the truth will do more harm.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Spinach Macaroni

Ingredients: 1 package (8 ounces) spinach macaroni, 3 tablespoons butter, ¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese.

Method: Cook spinach macaroni with boiling water and salt according to package directions; drain.

At once turn back into dry hot kettle (use the one in which the macaroni was boiled); add butter and cheese; mix with long spoon and fork until butter melts and cheese is evenly distributed.

Serve at once — passing extra Parmesan if desired. Makes 6 servings.

If you can meet our requirements for success.

This is an opportunity to create and control your level of annual profit for personal effort! America's fastest growing major paint firm is offering exclusive single or multiple unit retail franchises to qualified individuals in key cities with proven sales potential. We are 10 years old and well rated by accredited agencies. Over 400 owner-managed stores in 23 states. Many are earning net profits twice the inventory investment or better. $10,000 to $30,000 net profit figures are not unusual for this unique, low overhead, cash only, one-man owner-operated business.

A salaried company man, not a "one-shot" commission operator, will assist in finding desirable locations, train you or your manager prior to and during store opening, maintain regular service schedule to assure growth and profit. Without exception, every company man you will meet has worked in a store such as yours will be... he knows the business and is more interested in your annual volume than an opening order.

There is no franchise fee. Only 8% of required capital is in non-salable inventory (fixtures, equipment). No hidden costs or additional investment for starting or expanding is required beyond a balanced inventory of paint and painting accessories amounting to $5250.00 and enough capital for initial rent, utilities, etc. This simple inventory, plus weekly delivery service with our own trucks, makes a stock turnover of 8 to 10 times per year the average. Mary Carter wants you to operate on a sound inventory and cash position.

Can a Mary Carter franchise bring success and profit to you? This can be answered best by an intelligent, mutual appraisal of yourself and of the market. We are one of the few franchising organizations that urge you to see stores in your area before you decide.

NEW REMEDY FOR SNORING? An Akron woman has a complete cure in mind for her husband's snoring, according to Helen Nixon, radio and telephone operator at the Division of Wildlife headquarters in Akron.

THE wildlife personnel are accustomed to unusual requests, but this woman's call appears to have set a record of some sort, says Miss Nixon.

White Sox Play at Stadium Tonight

CLEVELAND (AP)—Lady Luck gave the Cleveland Indians an assist Tuesday night and they beat the Kansas City Athletics, 4-3, in 10 innings to hang onto fourth place in the American League by a slim margin.

A freak single by Tito Francona with one out and the bases loaded in the 10th gave the Indians the triumph that kept them one-half game ahead of the fifth-place Washington Senators.

The Tribe ends its home stand with a two-game series with the defending champion Chicago White Sox, starting tonight. Jim Perry (15-5), the league's winningest pitcher, will open for the Indians against Bob Shaw, who has won 11 games and lost 9.

Tuesday night's winning rally started with a leadoff single to deep short by John Temple. With one out and Temple on second, Vic Piersall blooped a single to center field to fill the bases.

Francona's bat split in half as he swung at Ken Johnson's pitch, but the ball took a crazy hop and sailed over second baseman Jerry Lumpe's head as Temple scored the winning run.

Don Newcombe, who hurled the last three innings, was the winner, giving him a 1-1 record since he came to the Indians from Cincinnati a few weeks ago.

The Indians collected 14 hits while Newcombe, Barry Latman and starter Jack Harshman held the Athletics to seven. Three of the Kansas City hits were by Dick Williams, a former Indian, who collected a home run and two singles to extend his batting streak to 14 games.

A home run by Francona over the right field fence after Piersall beat out a bunt gave the Indians a 2-0 lead in the second inning.

After Harshman had pitched five scoreless innings, the Athletics tied it up with two runs in the sixth on a single by Bill Tuttle, a double by Lumpe, a sacrifice fly by Hank Bauer and a single by Williams.

A run in the seventh put the Tribe ahead again. Mike de la Hoz led off with a single, was sacrificed to second by Bob Williams, went to third on a single by pinch-hitter Bob Hale and scored on a force play at second base.

Williams' leadoff homer in the ninth tied the score at 3-3.

Battling Buccos Grab Pair; Pad Lead to 7 1/2

By ED WILKS Associated Press Sports Writer

Pitching, hitting and bunts. Add 'em up and they give the Pittsburgh Pirates a bulging, 7 1/2-game lead in the National League pennant race.

The battling Buccos rolled to the biggest lead of the season in the majors by sweeping a doubleheader from Philadelphia, 11-2 and 4-3, Tuesday night, while Milwaukee replaced skidding St. Louis in second place.

The nightcap, Joe Gibbon and winning reliever Roy Face gave up just five hits between them while the Buccos collected a tie-breaking run on a walk in the eighth inning.

Right-hander Bob Friend, backed by 15 hits, won his 13th in the opener. He allowed seven hits, but walked just one man and put down 17 in a row from the second to the eighth innings.

Groza Has Back Trouble; Insists He Won't Retire

HIRAM, Ohio (AP)—Lou Groza is concerned about the time it is taking him to recover from a back injury he suffered in training here, but the Cleveland Browns' veteran tackle says he has no intention of retiring.

"If it were disc trouble I'd probably be through," Groza said though, the X-rays indicated that. So I know it shouldn't be too much longer. No, I don't have any intention of calling it quits."

Groza, the only remaining member of the original Browns squad, explained that he had gone through a long conditioning program before he came to camp. He said he had been bothered by back trouble in the past and wanted to make sure he was sound.

"Lou will battle this thing out all the way," said Coach Paul Brown. "That's the way it's always been with him."

At present Dick Schafrath and Mike McCormack are the regular offensive tackles and rookie Ed Denton is making his bid on the left side behind Schafrath.

Denton, who was with the College All-Stars, has some catching up work to do and may see some action in the exhibition game against the Pittsburgh Steelers Thursday night in Pittsburgh.

Jim Houston, a rookie from Ohio State, is slated to start at left end on defense against the Steelers. Jim Marshall, another ex-Ohio State gridders, will be his running mate on the other end of the line.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By RUFUS LIDE

The highway kill of raccoon seems to increase each year. Recently a fellow told me about seeing two young raccoon on Rt. 172 not far from New Garden. He said he got out of his car and teased them a little bit while they growled back at him.

The next morning I passed the spot and one lay dead on the road. He thought he should have picked them up for their own protection. Only one thing wrong about picking them up, the law says no!

At least they have every legal right to be left alone and the responsibility of whether they live or die is not the problem of any individual.

ANOTHER WAY to look at it, once a 'coon has been domesticated he is no good. Even though he may be released in the wilds when he grows up he will invariably head for the nearest farm house and become a chicken killer or a predator to any kind of fowl.

Not only that, but he forgets the hand that fed him when he was young and in 90 per cent of the cases, he will sink his fangs into his benefactors hand right to the bone if he doesn't happen to be in the mood to be petted.

The best thing to do is let wild animals remain in the wilds and let the law of nature take over "the survival of the fittest."

FEWER DEER have been killed on the highway in Columbiana County this year than any year within the past 10 years. If this means anything, it looks as if the deer hunting will be poor this coming season.

Acres and acres of land along the old Lisbon-Williamsport Road, leading off at the top of Canton Hill on Rt. 172, has been laid waste by strip mining operations. Thus, some of the best deer country has been completely destroyed for deer as well as any other animals.

As cruel as nature might be in destroying birds and animals by disease, predation and many other ways, man gives a great big assist by laying waste to so many acres of land, destroying a natural habitat for wildlife and at the same time removing valuable land from the tax duplicate.

WONDER WHY your taxes have been increased? It takes a heap of money to operate a state, county or township and when more money is needed your taxes are increased. The more land wasted in this county the more taxes will be increased on the good land.

There is one tax I don't mind paying and that is the increase in taxes to build needed schools. An individual property owner should realize that a good school will increase the home valuation of his property if he has children or not.

Cut down on the "wild life," commune more with nature's wild-life and the money will be at hand to pay school taxes and then some.

Ex-Cincy Fullback To Start for Giants

WINOOSKI PARK, Vt. (AP)—The New York Giants, aiming for a more diversified offense, have a new No. 1 fullback today as they enter their final week of training before setting up quarters closer to New York.

Joe Morrison, in his second year with the National Football League's Eastern Conference champions, will take over the fullback chores according to Coach Jim Lee Howell, after he turned in yeoman work in Monday night's 16-7 exhibition loss to the Chicago Bears in Toronto.

"Morrison played a good game," Howell said. "He has the fullback spot to himself now so we'll go offensively with (Frank) Gifford and (Alex) Webster."

The former University of Cincinnati player spent most of his rookie year spelling the two, and also put in some time in the fullback slot. This year Howell decided to keep him at fullback, behind the veteran Mel Triplett.

But Triplett injured a knee earlier in the training season and has been hobbling around on crutches. He is not expected to resume full-scale work until late this month, or sometime next month, depending on how well the knee responds to treatment.

First base coach Andy Cohen of Philadelphia began playing with Waco in the Texas League in 1925. His brother Syd once pitched for Washington.

Resigns at Houston

Marty Marion Sells Club

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Marty Marion has resigned as president and director of the Houston Buffs and the Houston club has bought Marion's stock.

W. H. Hopkins, chairman of the Buffs Major League Committee, made the announcement at a press conference Tuesday.

Hopkins said major league sources told him Houston will have a better chance for a major league franchise if the club is owned and operated by Houston area persons.

He said Marion's resignation is effective immediately and the ex-St. Louis Cardinal has already returned to his St. Louis home.

Hot Stove Leagues

A spirited Fire Department team, managed by Arthur Votaw and Martin Catlos, kept its Class G pennant hopes alive Tuesday night by fighting from behind to nip Scott's Sports, 8-7 before a large crowd at Memorial Park.

The victory for the Firemen was also a big lift for league-leading K of C who can now wrap up the title by defeating Scott's in a make-up game at 6 p.m. Thursday at Memorial.

However, if Scott's should defeat K of C on Thursday and the Firemen can get by seventh place National Cleaners on the same evening, Scott's, the Fire Department and K of C would all wind up the season in a tie for first place with 12-4 records.

Class G

The Firemen rallied for four runs in the bottom of the seventh inning in their thrilling, 8-7 victory over Scott's Sports.

Ray McNutt's double was the game-winning blow. Scott Thomson opened the seventh with a single. Rod Bentley and Lou Markovich then walked filling the bases. Martin Catlos fanned but Denny Papi was hit by a pitched ball. McNutt's bases clearing double sent the large Fire Department crowd home happy.

Tod Chappell of Scott's was sailing along smoothly with a no-hitter until Lou Markovich unloaded a two-run homer in the sixth. The blast cut Scott's lead to 5-3.

Scott's rocked Fire Department Pitcher Rod Bentley for eight hits including two triples by Chappell and a double and triple by Jim Dauria.

Walleye Fishing Is Still Good at Berlin

After fabulous spring and early summer walleye fishing in this part of the state, the angling is holding up well in Berlin Reservoir, Stark, Mahoning and Portage counties. This is the report from Dan Armbruster, wildlife district 3 fish management supervisor.

The walleyes being caught at Berlin now are averaging 15 inches in length. The most successful way of catching them is said to be by trolling along the bottom with a spinner and nightcrawler.

"White bass are also being caught at Berlin — casting with spinners is the way to take them," says Armbruster. "Some are being caught below the dam, along with stringers of carp and other fish."

"The walleye fishing has tapered off at Mosquito Creek Reservoir, Trumbull County, and is only considered fair at Lake Milton in Mahoning County."

'Never' Catalogue

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Your life is measured not only by what you've done—but by what you haven't done.

What kind of a person are you really? Your achievements, if any, speak for themselves. But what about all the things you didn't achieve, perhaps because you never had a chance to—or perhaps because they didn't interest you? If you sit down some evening, and write out a list of all the things you haven't done, you might learn some surprising facts about yourself. At least it would afford you an unusual portrait of your life up to now—and give you a look at yourself from a different angle.

Here's one man's catalogue of "nevers" as he nears the half-century mark:

Never learned to drive a car or tie a bow tie.

Never wore a pair of Bermuda shorts.

Never shot a man, a maid or a robin.

Never bought a house, a share of oil or uranium stock, or a carton of cigarettes.

Never had an appendectomy—or asked for one.

Never been in a jail except to visit friends.

Never planted a tree or a flower, or harvested any crop—except a few mild wild oats.

Never drank bourbon, rye, scotch, gin, vodka or absinthe—not out of a milk bottle, anyway.

Never interviewed Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, Bernard Baruch, Winston Churchill, Queen Marie of Romania, Eric Johnson, Carl Sandburg, Jayne Mansfield or Harold Stassen.

Never attended a social event that required the wearing of white tie and tails—and never hope to.

Never took a spanking as a child himself—or gave one later to his own child—without feeling that, in the end, it was painful.

Never able to keep weight down after getting first job enabling him to eat three meals a day.

Never wrote the great American novel—but only because couldn't decide on its title.

Never put wife on budget—because she got there with own budget first.

Never asked for a promotion; wiped away a widow's tears, slept on a park bench more than three days in a row, stole a hotel towel, or been thrown out of a night club.

What's on your list? What is it you have never done that makes you amount to what you are?

Teachers Gasp at Leader's Condemnation

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Delegates at the AFL-CIO American Federation of Teachers convention gasped Tuesday when President Carl Meigel of Chicago said:

"Teachers of America are to be condemned."

Then Meigel quickly explained, "What I meant to say was, 'Teachers of America are to be commended.'"

State Revenues Leave Ohio In The Hole for July

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State revenues dropped 8½ million dollars below estimates during July, leaving the general operating fund $36,172 in the hole for the month, Finance Director James H. Maloon reported today.

But he predicted the situation would right itself before the end of the bookkeeping year next June and provide about the same uncommitted cash balance as for the last fiscal year. The balance last June 30 was about 16 million dollars.

Maloon reported a cash balance of $7,030,620 in non- earmarked general funds at the end of July. Against that sum were $22,179,460 in liabilities and $34,887,332 in reserves for school subsidies, for a total of $57,066,792.

But the state is far from broke, according to the report. It said the cash balance in all funds increased during July from $278,395,494 to $311,022,558. Most of the funds are marked for specific purposes.

Maloon blamed the operating fund over- commitment on the timing of revenue payments. He said sales tax revenues, largest single tax source, were nearly three million dollars behind estimates because deficiency payments were large in June. They usually are made in July. Similar timing is applied to under- es- mate receipts from taxes on inheritances, racing and insurance companies, he added.

CRISPS SAVE LIVES

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The hunger- pang cries of 18-month-old May Emma Jackson early Tuesday may have saved the lives of her entire family—mother, father and month-old brother. When her cries woke her father, William Jackson, he found their kitchen in flames. He got the family out safely, but the origin of the fire remains a mystery.

CENTER CITY — The population center of the United States has been shifted again as the result of the 1960 census. Map above shows that it is now just northwest of Centralia, Ill., having moved west in 10 years from Olney. Census estimate in 1959 allowing for the admission of Alaska and Hawaii, had placed it briefly near Louisville.

ESCAPES INJURY

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—Nine persons escaped injury Tuesday night when they were dumped into Lake Erie twice from a 16-foot cruiser. Two women, Mrs. William Finley of North Ridgeville, and Mrs. John Elkins, of Elyria—were treated for shock and released.

John Cutter, commander of the Coast Guard auxiliary here, said waves overturned the boat just west of the mouth of Beaver Creek. The cruiser righted itself and when all the passengers tried to climb into it on the same side the boat capsized again, he added.

MOTELS CAN ADVERTISE

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—There is nothing in the law, says Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy, to prevent two Williams County motels from continuing to use loudspeakers along a state highway for advertising.

Bomb-Haunted Cultists Emerge After 42 Days

BENSON, Ariz. (AP) — Pale-faced but happy, more than 100 bomb-haunted cultists who took to underground shelters last month were enjoying sunshine today.

Emerging Tuesday after 42 days in basement refuges, the faithful members of the Full Gospel Assembly were asked by Rev. Richard Meeks, "Did you have a victory this morning?"

"Yes," they shouted. "Praise the Lord!"

Men, women and children of the sect burrowed into their basements in this southeastern Arizona town last July 4 because of what they termed a divine prophecy of world destruction by nuclear war. "Civil defense is the Noah's Ark of today," said a spokesman. "Like Noah, we can shelter for 40 days and 40 nights."

More than 35 members failed to match the Biblical mark, however, as they left their refuges in ones and twos.

Failure of the prophecy had no visible effect on the sect's enthusiasm or faith. Its pastor, Ann Wiener, put it this way: "We believe in the Lord and we thought some things were going to happen, but they didn't."

County Lawyers Named To Bar Committees

William Brokaw, also of Lisbon, criminal law; Robert S. Hartford of East Palestine, local government law; and H. Francis Lang of East Liverpool, professional economics.

The appointments were recommended by Horace G. Tetlow of Youngstown, executive committee man.
